RIFF 2026 : Celebrating Cinema as Culture and Creative Dialogue

Film festivals play a vital role in nurturing cinema as an art form and as a medium of cultural expression. They bring together filmmakers, artists, writers, and audiences on a shared platform, celebrating storytelling that is deeply rooted in history, literature, folklore, and lived experiences. Through cinema, traditions are preserved, reinterpreted, and introduced to newer generations in powerful and engaging ways.

The Rajasthan International Film Festival (RIFF) continues this legacy by providing a meaningful space for emerging and independent filmmakers whose voices deserve wider recognition. By showcasing diverse narratives and cinematic styles, RIFF encourages artistic exploration, cross-cultural dialogue, and creative collaboration.

As cinema increasingly reflects social realities and global concerns, RIFF serves as a platform for films that provoke thought, inspire awareness, and foster empathy. Documentaries, short films, and experimental works presented at the festival highlight important issues while expanding the boundaries of cinematic expression.

Beyond the screen, RIFF contributes significantly to Rajasthan's cultural identity and creative economy. By welcoming filmmakers and cinema lovers from across the world, the festival promotes cultural tourism and highlights the state's rich heritage, language, and craftsmanship.

RIFF 2026 reaffirms the festival's commitment to cinema as a transformative force, one that connects regional stories with global audiences and celebrates the enduring power of creative expression.

Director : Mitra Mazumder

Produced By : Mitra Mazumder

Tanmay Ganguly, Rajdeep Sarkar, Nandini Biswas

Synopsis - In a crumbling world where climate crisis, human trafficking, child abduction, and the ruthless greed of urbanization intersect, one forgotten elderly soul during pandemic 2020 becomes a mirror to humanity's downfall. This surreal, dystopian yet poetic cinematic journey dives deep into themes of displacement, ecological destruction, and the profound loneliness that festers in a society obsessed with artificial connections and material gain. The story follows an elderly person abandoned amidst the neon lights of urban prosperity. Their isolation gradually turns into a haunting symbol of collective loss — showing how, in the name of progress, we are losing everything: rivers, forests, livelihoods, homes, families, identities, and our very dignity. This film serves not just as a cautionary tale, but also as an elegy — a quiet reminder of what we are letting vanish forever. This film blends elements of poetic realism, social commentary, and dystopian allegory to evoke deep reflection.

Synopsis - Khatto Meetho (Sour & Sweet) is a slice-of-life film that's a playful yet heartfelt take on my Marwari upbringing, brought to life through characters inspired by the vibrant Phad art of Rajasthan, India. Marwaris are known for being sharp-witted, sociable, and occasionally overbearing, but it is always rooted in love and community. And family gatherings with them you ask? There's affection, exasperation, contradiction, and generational tension battling their pride in tradition versus the desire for change. It's loud, messy and emotionally charged, but it shapes us in profound ways.

शायद याद भी नहीं होगा।

क्योंकि आज हर भाषा में मनोरंजन मिल जाता है - कोरियन में, स्पैनिश में, अंग्रेजी में।

लेकिन अपनी भाषा में मनोरंजन ? वो कहाँ है?

और यही सबसे बड़ा सवाल है।

क्योंकि असली मनोरंजन वो नहीं जो सिर्फ दो घंटे तक आपको व्यस्त रखे। असली मनोरंजन वो है जो दिल छू जाए। जो आपके अंदर कुछ महसूस कराए। जो आपको हंसाए, रुलाए, और खत्म होने के बाद भी जेहन में घूमता रहे।

और सबसे ज़्यादा असर तब होता है जब कहानी आपकी भाषा में हो... आपकी बोली में हो... उस भाषा में जिसमें आपकी मां ने कहानियां सुनाई थीं।

वो बोलियां जिनमें इस भारत देश के करोड़ों लोग बात करते हैं, हंसते हैं, रोते हैं, अपने सुख-दुख एक दूसरे से बांटते हैं। अगर भाषाएं इस देश का शरीर हैं, तो बोलियां इसकी आत्मा हैं...

उसी आत्मा को फिर से जिंदा करने के लिए, उसे मुख्यधारा में लाने के लिए, हमने एक काम किया जो पहले किसी ने नहीं किया... बोलियों का मनोरंजन है स्टेज।

स्टेज, बोलियों में हमारी कहानियां कहने आया है...

स्टेज, बोलियों में हमारे नायक दिखाने आया है...

स्टेज, बोलियों के कलाकारों को मंच देने आया है...
